... the foundation of any good relationship. And that goes for your doctor and pharmacist, too. When you build these bonds, you'll wed higher-quality health care and more effective use of your medications.

So pop the question! Better yet, pop a whole list of them each time you visit your doctor and local pharmacy. You'll be a more informed health care consumer, and that helps keep costs down, too.

Take the initiative to talk to your doctor and pharmacist—your partners for a healthy lifestyle.
